

Five Dysfunctions of a Team

Training & Transformation Process

The Five Dysfunctions of a Team is a highly interactive one day workshop designed to strengthen and improve teamwork. Participants complete an online assessment of the team to ensure all topics and activities are relevant. The team activities and learning simulations reinforce customized key issues and provide the team a memorable and positive experience.

Objectives/Benefits

- ◆ Provide the team an assessment and baseline of it's capabilities and susceptibilities as they relate to the Five Dysfunctions of a Team.
- ◆ Target specific team strengths and helping team's explore where there are different views of the team's effectiveness.
- ◆ Identify the critical one or two "susceptible" team capabilities that need to be explore and then engage in targeted discussions, activities and or exercises designed to build capacity. These targeted discussions/activities/etc. strengthen the team where it matters most and builds "immunity".
- ◆ Engage the team in experiential learning so they can put practice into place immediately.
- ◆ Help the team determine the mechanisms/tools/systems the team will use to "check-in" and sustain gains.
